

The New Zealand Sign Language Collection

Explore one of New Zealand's three official languages anywhere, anytime and on any device.

The online home for BWB's reference publishing and accounts of Deaf experience, freshly rendered using rich multimedia and visuals.

From

the oticon foundation

The New Zealand Sign Language Collection

The New Zealand Sign Language Collection provides online access to BWB's reference publishing and accounts of Deaf experience. The Collection launches with two important works by Rachel McKee, Programme Director of Deaf Studies at Victoria University of Wellington: People of the Eye: Stories from the Deaf World and New Zealand Sign Language: A Reference Grammar. More works will be added over time. Accessed via any modern web browser, the Collection provides subscribers with easy and uninhibited access to these rich resources on New Zealand's third official language.

Key features

- » Important resources for all
New Zealanders: NZSL is one of New Zealand's three official languages, and forms part of the curriculum in intermediate schools. A Reference Grammar has been developed to support the learning of students, families and friends of Deaf people, school teachers, public officials, in a clear account of language structure and use. People of the Eye, with powerful photography by Bruce Connew, challenges an often ill-informed mainstream view of what it means to be Deaf, and makes a powerful statement about the importance of communication.
- » Flexible and fast: Optimised for mobile devices – reflecting the needs of today's students and researchers – and viewable instantly using any modern web browser. Subscribers are given uninhibited access with no proprietary or complex technology getting in the way.
- » Connected books: Too often ebooks remain of poor quality, siloed within proprietary reading systems and isolated from wider web research workflows. BWB Collections addresses these frustrations head-on, including high-level production values and new and exciting ways of book content linking. A Reference Grammar includes rich multimedia and visuals to aid learning, and links to the excellent online resource, The Online Dictionary of New Zealand Sign Language.
- » A living resource: Subscriptions will help fund the future digitisation and addition of other NZSL works from beyond BWB's publishing.